

YOUNG FILMMAKERS EXPLORE SCIENCE MYSTERIES AMID PANDEMIC IN 5TH INDIE-SIYENSYA

From the mundane mysteries such as sleep and solar power to social issues such as vaccine hesitancy to environmentally-sustainable fishing traditions, everyday science comes to life with the able explorations of young documentary filmmakers of the Department of Science and Technology – Science Education Institute’s (DOST-SEI’s) 5th Indie-Siyensya Filmmaking Competition.

Over five dozen entries from schools and individuals all across the Philippines, from Abra to Maguindanao, joined the contest. Their entries consisted of short documentaries relevant to the theme “The Scientist in Me,” aimed at explaining the science behind everyday things.

DOST-SEI specifically chose this theme in response to the need for public safety in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, as well as a way to encourage the youth to see science as an essential part of their everyday lives.

“Science is so much more than just a set of facts: it is a way of life, a way of seeing the world,” said DOST-SEI Director Dr. Josette T. Biyo. “This innate ability to see the world anew is a philosophy of hope that is much needed, especially in these times. It is for this reason that we chose the theme, ‘The Scientist in Me.’”

Despite the constraints of the pandemic and the limitations, all the entries were done well and noteworthy of praise, but in any contest there has to be winners.

For the “Youth Category” for high school, tertiary school, and out-of-school youth aged 13-20, the winners were: “Snooze,” a documentary on the science of sleep, by Micah Paulina C. Limlengco of Philippine Science High School - Southern Mindanao Campus

“Marvels of Science: Non-Newtonian Fluid,” an exploration of the strange properties of a homemade material, by De La Salle University Integrated School - Manila (NCR)

For the “Open Category” for college students, teachers, and S&T professionals, the winners were: “Sinag,” a look at the surprising science of solar power, by Richelle Joan Gareza Enriquez of the Polytechnic University of the Philippines (NCR)

“Super Sci Yan,” an exploration of alternative energy sources, by Kenneth Peterson F. Leviste of Arkos Digital (NCR)

“Yankaw,” an investigative documentary of a sustainable traditional Filipino fishing practice, by Khristine L. Sandoval of NU Sports Academy (Laguna, Region 4A)

The films were judged based on scientific content, idea execution, and filmmaking technique. The winners in each category were given trophies and cash prizes worth PhP100,000 for the Best Film, PhP50,000 pesos for the second prize, and PhP30,000 for the third prize.

“Agam- Agham,” a Filipino-language investigation of vaccine hesitancy, by Mary Antonette G. Agapito, Malena Riz C. Ballon, Juliana Krishna W. Guevarra, Val Allen U. Eltagonde, and Divine Mae R. Manadong of Rizal National Science High School (Region 4A)

“Marvels of Science: Non-Newtonian Fluid,” an exploration of the strange properties of a homemade material, by De La Salle University Integrated School - Manila (NCR)

For the “Open Category” for college students, teachers, and S&T professionals, the winners were:

“Sinag,” a look at the surprising science of solar power, by Richelle Joan Gareza Enriquez of the Polytechnic University of the Philippines (NCR)

In addition, both “Marvels of Science: Non-Newtonian Fluid” and “Yankaw” also received the Viewer’s Choice Award, amounting to an additional PhP20,000 each.

Indeed, this initiative of DOST-SEI brings out the best in the Filipino where they get to show that science and art or art and science can be mixed and complement each other to create beautiful masterpieces. The winning entries may be viewed for free at the following link: <https://bit.ly/5thIndieWinners>. Source: DOST rights-based education (RBE) framework of the Department, Child Rights in Education Desk (CRE-De), Child Protection Unit (CPU), and other efforts of the agency on child rights during the pandemic.

“Our efforts, our reflections, our projects, our hard work – are centered on the child. This pandemic has taught us to build more partnerships and be relentless in our pursuit of protecting our children and championing their rights,” Education Secretary Leonor Magtolis Briones said.

Built on the gains of the first two Summits, the Department created the Child Rights in Education Desk (DO No. 3, s. 2021) in January 2021 to strengthen its advocacies on the rights of the child in basic education.

“CREDe, using a legal and child rights lens, is mandated to act as the lead unit of DepEd to flesh out and articulate standards and meanings of child rights in basic education, as well as advocate and build capacity on the rights of the child in basic education, with a view to anchoring and integrating child rights in the mandate and work of the DepEd,” Undersecretary for Legal Affairs Josephine Maribojoc explained.

With the theme: “Batang May K: Karapatan ng Bata sa Edukasyon, Kasama ang Lahat sa Pag-sulong!”, the Third National Summit also aimed to facilitate discussions and elicit recommendations on upholding RBE through a whole-of-school, whole-of-DepEd, whole-of-gov- ernment, and whole-of-so- ciety approach.

“Every child has a right to education. Through our strong partnership and close coordination with the Department of Education and partners, UNICEF helps build teachers’ skills, develop learning materials, and make programs accessible that ensure the well-being of children, no matter where they are.

Together, we can ensure that the best interest of every child comes first, especially now as in-person schooling started in selected areas,” UNICEF Philippines Representative Oyunsakhan Dendevnorov said. Participants of the Summit include officials and representatives from all governance levels of DepEd nationwide, public and private schools, national agencies, local government units, NGOs, and international organiza- tions, the academe, profes- sional organizations, busi- ness, media, parents, and the children and learners. Consistent with the previous events, the forum ensured that the participa- tion and opinion of chil- dren are heard and consid- ered seriously, especially on policies affecting them. Student-leaders, ALS learners, and SPED learners participate in the summit by narrating their experiences in their respec- tive schools and through a roundtable discussion with selected DepEd officials headed by the Secretary.

A pre-summit con- ference was held on No- vember 19 to prepare the children and learner partic- ipants for the Summit, and to contribute to the design and content of the Summit. Source: DepEd the Vaccine Cluster to the healthcare and local government unit workers, and volunteers – all selflessly working towards protecting more Filipinos from COVID-19," Health Secretary Francisco T. Duque III said.

"With the commencement of the second round of Bayanihan Bakunahan, we hope to encourage more Filipinos to get fully-vaccinated. Sa Bayanihan Bakunahan, bayani ang bawat Pilipino.

Muli po namin kayong inaanyayahan makiisa sa ating Bayanihan Bakunahan and let us work together until everyone is safe. Meanwhile, the National Vaccine Operations Center will continue to ensure that we have enough vaccine supply and administer it," said Vaccine Czar Sec. Carlito Galvez, Jr.

The Department of Health (DOH) and the National Task Force against COVID-19 (NTF) further reassure the public that all approved COVID-19 vaccines in the country are safe and effective.

The agencies also called on those yet to receive their primary dose to get fully vaccinated and encouraged those eligible for additional doses to get their additional or booster dose.
