

Filipinos urged to improve digestive health

In line with the observance of Philippine Digestive Health Week (PDHW) from March 7 to 13, health experts are urging Filipinos to take a proactive role in caring for their digestive health. Colorectal cancer, liver cancer, peptic ulcer disease, diarrhea, and stomach cancer are among the leading causes of sickness and death in the country. This year's PDHW theme is "Empowering Filipinos to Care for their Digestive Health: Malusog na Tiyan, Masiglang Katawan".

On March 18, 2020

the President signed Proclamation No. 930 declaring the second week of March of every year as Philippine Digestive Health Week.

"We extend our heartfelt gratitude to President Duterte for his invaluable support. Proclamation No. 930 will legitimize our efforts to celebrate PDHW annually and facilitate our initiatives to promote awareness on digestive health among Filipinos," said Dr. Augusto Jose G. Galang, president of the Philippine Society of Gastroenterology (PSG).

"My warmest greetings to the Philippine Society of Gastroenterology (PSG), Philippine Society of Digestive Endoscopy (PSDE) and Hepatology Society of the Philippines (HSP) have held their Joint Annual Convention (JAC) in conjunction with the three societies' PDHW celebration in celebrating this week-long occasion that aims to bring together our medical professionals and promote greater public awareness on digestive health... As we continue to deal with a global pandemic, I encourage you to continue working with the government in ensuring the improved wellbeing of every Filipino and upholding the highest quality of medical care for all," said President Duterte.

"This year's PDHW theme is 'Malusog na Tiyan, Masiglang Katawan' is appropriate and timely as we address the growing burden of various diseases and conditions relating to digestive health, and re-center the discussion on preventive measures. I am hopeful that the Philippine Society of Gastroenterology would find ways to integrate and collaborate with primary care providers to ensure a holistic approach to caring for all even before they become sick. Rest assured that the DOH is one with you in this vast endeavor," said Secretary of Health Francisco T. Duque III.

"We will heighten the information drive on colorectal cancer every March as we observe Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month. Together with our multi-stakeholder partners led by the Philippine Society of Gastroenterology, we will launch the use of fecal immunochemical test or FIT as the primary population-based colorectal cancer screening tool.

This will be followed by Colonoscopy which is both diagnostic for colorectal cancer and therapeutic for premalignant polyps and is also used for cancer surveillance," said Dr. Clarito U. Cairo, Jr., Program Manager of the National Integrated Cancer Control Program, DOH Disease Prevention and Control Bureau.

"Any death due to preventable diseases is unacceptable. The cost of treating diseases and conditions affecting the digestive system as well as the pain and suffering of patients and their families would have been unnecessary if we only had the guts to stop them from happening in the first place," said Representative Angelina D.L. Tan, Chairperson, Committee on Health, House of Representatives.

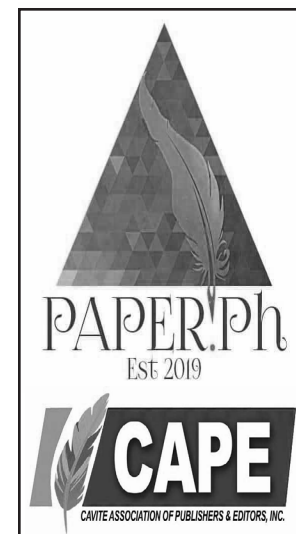

"Let us engage communities and families as our partners in health, continue to promote awareness, educate the public, maximize efficiency and effectiveness, and pool our resources for the prevention and management of various diseases and conditions relating to digestive health," said Dr. Benito Atienza, President, Philippine Medical Association (PMA).

"The PSG, PSDE and HSP have lined up webinars this week, March 8 to 11, that aim to increase awareness on digestive health among both laypersons and primary care physicians," said Dr. Allan A. Policarpio, Chair, PDHW 2021.

"Tummy Talks", a 4-part online talk show will feature gastrointestinal health and wellness, awareness on colorectal cancer, H. pylori infection and gastric cancer, hepatitis, cirrhosis, and liver cancer. Concurrently, a webinar lecture series on dyspepsia, H. pylori infection, irritable bowel syndrome, colorectal cancer screening, gallbladder dis-

Women empowerment keyed to improved climate health crisis

The Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR) underscored the need for women's active participation on the policies and programs designed to address challenges emerging from climate change and current and future pandemics, during the kick-off ceremony in celebration of the National Women's Month.

"Our women, especially those in low-income communities, are among the most affected by climate change and

COVID-19 because they have limited resources and information to combat the impacts of these crises," DENR Undersecretary for Finance, Information System and Climate Change Analiza Rebueta-Teh said.

Citing a 2020 report by international climate research organization Project Drawdown, Teh said that empowering women and girls in developing countries, like the Philippines, ranked second among 76 solutions for curbing global warming to 2 degrees Celsius.

"Women have the natural capability to adapt to climate change. Educating women and girls will also help raise their resilience from disasters," said Teh, quoting the report.

"Our Department plays a very significant role to address this problem. Our programs in the coastal areas, land, cities, forests, mines, and others should be geared to protect and nurture not only our environment and nat-

Salamat dahil naumpisahan na ang vaccination sa ating mga health care workers.

Naniniwala ako na ang simula ng ating pagbabakuna sa hanay ng ating mga health care workers ay magiging hudyat ng masigla at ligtas na pagbabakuna sa ating mga kababayan. Uunahin nating matapos ang 2,200 health care workers na nagtatrabaho sa public at private medical institutions habang nagsisimula na tayo ng ating survey at pre-registration sa ating mga barangay. In this year's National Women's Month celebration, DENR shines light on the importance of women making change amid the climate crisis and COVID-19.

The month-long event focuses on the equal and active participation of women in issues concerning the environment, particularly climate change, disaster risk reduction, and health crisis.

"For women's month this year, we highlight on expanding and upscaling on environmental protection and conservation, climate change and disaster risk reduction. The "Mga Kwentong KLIMA-likasan Tungo sa Katatagan: A Climate and Disaster Resiliency Recognition Awards scheme, dubbed as, 'Mga Kwentong KLIMA-likasan Tungo sa Katatagan' (Stories on climate-environment towards stability)," Teh said.

The DENR, through the Gender and Development Office and Climate Change Service (CCS), aims to highlight the stories of individuals, both women and men, and groups on the impacts of climate change in their communities and on how they are addressing them through relevant programs in their communities," Teh said. "I urge all our DENR offices, at the Central Office, bureaus, attached agencies, regional, provincial, and community offices to help us spot the good stories at the ground level. These initiatives should have been existing up to now and at least, for the last three years. If such good stories also need assistance in documentation from our local stakeholders, I urge our various offices to extend such assistance," she added.

The DENR will also conduct webinars and radio programs throughout the month in line with this year's theme, "Women (Turn to page 5)

PH welcomes arrival of COVID19 vaccines-DOH

(From page 3) with partners to ensure that local communities are engaged in the overall vaccination process.

"Vaccines are safe and effective. The COVID-19 pandemic has become a child rights crisis which we need to end as fast as possible. The longer the pandemic goes on, the more intense the impact on people, especially on children's health, rights to education, nutrition, protection and mental health. COVID-19 vaccination should be part of a larger strategy to strengthen health systems for children and families in the Philippines for the long-term," says UNICEF Philippines Representative Oyunsaikhan Dendevnorov.

The COVAX Facility aims to procure 2 billion doses by the end of 2021. The vaccines are intended to protect frontline health care and social workers, as well as high risk and vulnerable people. COVAX was set up to address concerns around fairness and making vaccines available to all. To control and end the global pandemic, vaccines must be available to all.

The National Women's Month is celebrated every March as "Women's Role in History Month" under Proclamation No. 227 s. 1988.

COVAX is co-led by CEPI, Gavi and WHO – working in partnership with UNICEF as key implementation partner, developed and developing country vaccine manufacturers, the World Bank, and others. It is the only global initiative that is working with governments and manufacturers to ensure COVID-19 vaccines are available worldwide to both higher-income and lower-income countries.

CEPI is leading on the COVAX vaccine research and development portfolio, and investing in R&D across a variety of promising candidates, with the goal to support development of three safe and effective vaccines which can be made available to countries participating in the COVAX Facility.

As part of this work, CEPI has secured first right of refusal to potentially over one billion doses for the COVAX Facility to a number of candidates, and made strategic investments in vaccine manufacturing, which includes reserving capacity to manufacture doses of COVAX vaccines at a network of facilities, and securing glass vials to hold 2 billion doses of vaccine. Gavi is leading on procurement and delivery for COVAX, coordinating the design and implementation of the COVAX Facility and the COVAX AMC and working with Alliance partners UNICEF and WHO, along with governments, to ensure country readiness and delivery.

The COVAX Facility is the global pooled procurement mechanism for COVID-19 vaccines through which COVAX will ensure fair and equitable access to vaccines for all 190 participating economies, using an allocation framework formulated by WHO.

The COVAX Facility will do this by pooling buying power from participating economies and providing volume guarantees across a range of promising vaccine candidates.

The Gavi COVAX AMC is the financing mechanism that will support the participation of 92 low- and middle-income countries in the Facility, enabling access to donor-funded doses of safe and effective vaccines.

UNICEF and the Pan-American Health Organization (PAHO) will be acting as procurement coordinators for the COVAX Facility, helping deliver vaccines to all participants.

WHO has multiple roles within the COVAX: among other things it supports countries as they prepare to receive and administer vaccines and does so in partnership with UNICEF.

It provides normative guidance on vaccine policy, regulation, safety, R&D, allocation, and country readiness and delivery. Its Strategic Advisory Group of Experts (SAGE) on Immunization develops evidence-based immunization policy recommendations.

Its Emergency Use Listing (EUL)/prequalification programmes ensure harmonized review and authorization across member states. It provides global coordination and member state support on vaccine safety monitoring. It developed the target product profiles for COVID-19 vaccines and provides R&D technical coordination.

Along with COVAX partners, it is developing a no-fault compensation scheme for indemnification and liability issues. COVAX is part of the Act accelerator which WHO launched with partners in 2020. UNICEF is leveraging its experience as the largest single vaccine buyer in the world and working with manufacturers and partners on the procurement of COVID-19 vaccine doses, as well as freight, logistics and storage. UNICEF already procures more than 2 billion doses of vaccines annually for routine immunization and outbreak response on behalf of nearly 100 countries. In collaboration with the PAHO Revolving Fund, UNICEF is leading efforts to procure and supply doses of COVID-19 vaccines for COVAX. In addition, UNICEF and WHO are working with governments around the clock to ensure that countries are ready to receive the vaccines, with appropriate cold chain equipment in place and health workers trained to dispense them. UNICEF is also playing a lead role in efforts to foster trust in vaccines, delivering vaccine confidence communications and tracking and addressing misinformation around the world.

PH welcomes arrival of COVID19 vaccines-DOH

(From page 1) front of the battle against the COVID-19 pandemic. With every dose that we will administer, we are inching towards a safer recovery from this pandemic. So, let us put our trust in science, in vaccines. Together, we will rise as a nation and heal as one," says Department of Health Secretary Francisco T. Duque III. Officials from the Philippines' Inter-Agency Task Force on the Management of Emerging Infectious Diseases (IATF), Department of Health (DOH), World Health Organization (WHO) and UNICEF Philippines received the vaccine doses at the Ni-noy Aquino International Airport. The Philippine Government will lead the rollout of the COVID-19 vaccination campaign.

The COVID-19 vaccination campaign leads an unprecedented effort to provide at least 2 billion doses of COVID-19 vaccines by the end of 2021 to low- and middle-income countries. For several months, COVAX partners have been supporting governments and partners in readiness efforts, in preparation for this moment. This includes assisting with the development of national vaccination plans, support for cold chain infrastructure, as well as stockpiling of half a billion syringes and safety boxes for their disposal, masks, gloves and other equipment to ensure that there is enough equipment for health workers to start vaccinating priority groups as soon as possible. The WHO launched the Access to COVID-19 Tools (ACT) Accelerator, a global collaboration to accelerate development, production, and equitable access to COVID-19 diagnostics, therapeutics, and vaccines. COVAX is the vaccines pillar of the ACT Accelerator and is led jointly by Gavi, WHO, the CEPI, and UNICEF, which is leading vaccine procurement and delivery operations. WHO is tasked with ensuring fair allocation and prioritization of countries eligible to receive vaccines from the COVAX Facility. "WHO joins partners and the people of the Philippines in welcoming the arrival of COVID-19 vaccines through the COVAX Facility. These vaccines coming through CO-

VAX will help protect up to 20% of the population in the country during this year, including healthcare workers, other frontline workers and the elderly – groups who are most at risk. The COVID-19 vaccines are proven to protect people from severe disease and death. Used together with public health measures currently in place – wearing masks, physical distancing, avoiding large groups, and washing hands frequently – will help mitigate the effects of the pandemic by reducing deaths and severe disease. We all welcome the addition of vaccines to the available tools in the country which, when used to scale, will contribute to gradual return of day-to-day activities and economic revival in the country. The delivery of COVID-19 vaccines in the Philippines is a powerful step in that direction," said Dr. Rabindra Abeyasinghe, WHO Representative to the Philippines. UNICEF is leading the procurement and delivery of COVID-19 vaccines through COVAX facility to countries - the biggest, most sophisticated ground operation in the history of immunization. In the Philippines, apart from supporting COVID-19 vaccine introduction and roll out, UNICEF continues to support the immunization programmes of the government through planning, cold chain and vaccine management, technical know-how and training. Building on over 70 years of experience in providing simple, effective and accurate information to build public knowledge, awareness and confidence in vaccines, UNICEF is working
