DEPED TEACHERS, PERSONNEL ELIGIBLE FOR PBB 2019

The teaching and majority of the non-teaching personnel of the Department of Education are set to receive their 2019 Performance-Based Bonus (PBB) after the IATF (AO25TF) declared the Department eligible for the annual incentive.

DepEd met 13 out of the 16 indicators promoting efficient government services.

The teaching and majority of the non-teaching personnel of the Department of Education (DepEd) are set to receive their 2019 Performance-Based Bonus (PBB) after the IATF (AO25TF) declared the Department eligible for the annual incentive.

“For PBB 2019, DepEd met 13 out of the 16 indicators. We are eligible as an agency because we met all the good governance indicators after our appeal on nationwide Philgeps non-compliance,” Undersecretary for Planning, and Human Resource and Organizational Development Jesus Mateo said.

DepEd was able to submit indicators promoting efficient government services, including (1) Transparency Seal; (2) PhilGEPS Posting; (3) Streamlining and Process Improvement (SPI) of Agency Services; (4) Posting of Agency Review and Compliance Procedure of Statement and Financial Disclosures; (5) Freedom of Information (FOI) Compliance; (6) Posting of Agency’s System of Ranking Delivery Units; (7) QMS Requirement; (8) Submission of Financial Reports; (9) Compliance with at least 30% of Prior Years’ Audit Recommendations; (10) Submission of FY 2019 APP non-CSE; (11) Submission of FY 2020 APP-CSE; (12) Submission of FY 2018 APC-PI; and (13) Budget Utilization Rate (BUR).

The AO25TF and the Results-Based Performance Management System (RPMS) determine, through a set of guidelines, if government agency or individual personnel met the requirements that will deem them eligible for the bonus.

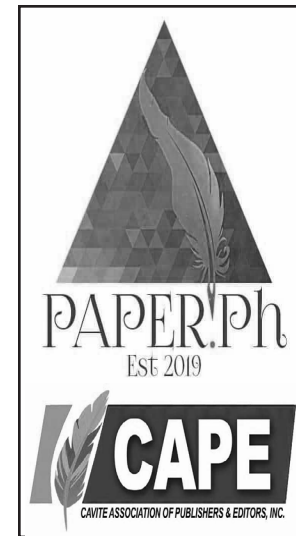

“PBB is not budgeted in DepEd because you can only get the PBB when the AO25 Task Force has evaluated the agency eligible for the PBB,” explained Usec. Sevilla.

According to both Usec. Sevilla and Usec. Mateo, the Department will wait for the official communication from AO25TF to confirm the eligibility of the Department. The AO25TF is expected to send the letter within the week.

After the confirmation of eligibility of DepEd by the AO25TF, the Department of Budget and Management (DBM) will facilitate the releases of the bonuses. The school-based personnel will be the first ones to receive their bonuses, then the SDO-based personnel who are assigned in the schools comes next, followed by School Division Offices (SDOs), Regional Offices (ROs), and lastly, the Central Office (CO).

DBM will download the funds to its Regional Offices (ROs), then directing (Turn to page 5)

Vaccination phase expected to ramp up once supplies arrive

The Department of Health (DOH) and the National Task Force Against COVID-19 (NTF) today assured the public that the current pace of the COVID-19 vaccination for healthcare workers is expected to rise exponentially once bulk of the government-processed doses, as well as those from the COVAX Facility arrive by mid-second quarter of this year.

The DOH and NTF further clarified that the current pace of COVID-19 vaccination for healthcare workers (HCWs) will not be the pace the vaccination will go once full-scale implementation of the National COVID-19 Vaccination Program has been initiated. “It is not logical to compute performance evaluation from the start of the mini roll out. We will be able to get our benchmark vaccination rate when we start our massive community roll out by May and June,” NTF Chief Implementer and Vaccine Czar Secretary Carlito G. Galvez said.

According to Health Secretary Francisco T. Duque III, it is expected that the vaccination of HCWs will be steadily paced in order to ensure that hospitals are fully operational and their hospital staff sufficient at any given time, considering that the same healthcare workers being vaccinated are the ones maintaining the integrity of the health system. “In anticipation of lo-

Cayetano: Hindi pa tapos ang laban para mga OFWs

Ikinatuwa ni dating Speaker Alan Peter Cayetano ang mga pagluluwag ng Saudi Arabia sa kanilang "kafala system" dahil libo-libong mga Overseas Filipino Workers (OFWs) ang makikinabang dito.

Sa ilalim ng "kafala", nagmimistulang pag-aaring mga employer ang mga migranteng manggagawa. Dahil mayroong absolute control ang mga employer sa mga OFW, hindi basta basta makakaalis ng bansa o makakalipat ng trabaho ang mga empleyado kahit tapos na ang kanilang kontrata ng walang pahintulot ng kanilang mga amo.

Ang "kafala" system na umiiral sa Middle East ang siyang nagpapahirap sa mga OFWs na nagtatrabaho doon.

Pinaniniwalaang ang sistemang ito ang ugat ng maraming kaso ng pang-aabuso at

Health care waste increased in PH oceans

Following the recent discovery of single-use face masks entangled in the coral reefs of Anilao, Batangas, Environment Secretary Roy A. Cimatu said the increasing amount of improperly discarded household healthcare wastes during the pandemic has become a serious concern.

Cimatu said "the recent discovery of disposable face masks, plastic face shields, and other household healthcare wastes in our reefs is alarming. These wastes will harm both marine life and divers."

He stressed that while it is vital to follow minimum public health protocols to curb the spread of coronavirus, it is as important to be aware of each person's responsibilities to the environment.

The Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR) is also working closely with the Department of the Interior and Local Government that has a directive to LGUs on handling household healthcare wastes, cleaning of esteros, and reminding those living near waterways to not throw wastes directly in the bodies of water.

Antiporda expressed that the DENR, together with its partner-agencies, will further discuss effective solutions to address the "global problem" of household healthcare wastes ending up in oceans and other water bodies.

He acknowledged that handling of used face masks and gloves from households is more difficult than those collected and (medical) facilities from hospitals and quarantine facilities. "These (quarantine treatment facility and get (Turn to page 5)

Vaccination phase expected to ramp up once supplies arrive

(From page 1) lessons learned from this phase will be beneficial once vaccination has been ramped up to cover the rest of the priority populations. "We are only in the second week of our roll out, but the experience we are gaining from this phase will help us once supply of vaccines becomes steady. As of latest count, we have already deployed almost 90% of our available doses. These vaccines have reached Batanes to Tawi-tawi, from the northernmost to the southernmost island provinces—a testament that our distribution channels are ready should the vaccines arrive," Sec. Duque said.

Galvez said. "While herd immunity is the goal of every country including ours, our short term goal with the limited vaccine supply is to reduce mortality and protect those who are at most risk." Sec. Duque said. "We are confident that we will be vaccinating much more once our vaccines arrive, but while we wait for our turn to get vaccinated, I want to emphasize that we cannot let our guards down. Vaccination is only one of our strategies to beat this virus, but our adherence to MPHS is still the best" he added. Source: DOH

However, he emphasized that strict compliance with waste segregation at source is still the best way to manage solid waste.

"Since the start of the pandemic in March 2020, we already expected that more household healthcare wastes will be generated. Hence, the DENR through the National Solid Waste Management Commission (NSWMC), has issued reminders on the proper disposal of these wastes," said Antiporda who is also the alternate chair of the NSWMC.

He echoed Cimatu's reminder to the LGUs to prioritize the handling of pandemic-related wastes by imposing strict segregation of wastes in households, implementing effective collection system, and providing yellow bins for potentially infectious wastes or personal protective equipment.

The DENR has already distributed yellow bins to the city government of Manila in November 2020, and is set to distribute in other LGUs in the coming months. Source: DENR

Kaugnay nito nanawagan si Cayetano sa agarang pagsasabatas ng Department of Overseas Filipinos and Foreign Employment para matugunan ng husto ang pangangailangan ng mga OFWs. Ang panukala ay pasado na sa Kamara noong isang taon ngunit nakabinbin pa din sa Senado.

Ayon kay Cayetano, malaking hakbang ito para sa pagsusulong ng patas na karapatan at proteksyon ng mga OFWs. Gayunman naaprubahan ang Global Compact for Migration sa United Nations noong 2018. Ito ang kauna-unahang United Nations Global Agreement na tutugon sa iba't ibang pangangailangan at karapatan ng mga migrante sa buong mundo.
