

DOST SUPPORTS BEEKEEPERS AND HONEY HUNTERS IN ILOCOS SUR UNDER THE CEST PROGRAM

Beekeeping has become a promising enterprise for communities in Nagbukel and Quirino in Ilocos Sur because of science, technology, and innovation.

The beekeeping enterprise is expected to provide a source of alternative and sustainable livelihood to armed-conflict-affected communities utilizing existing potentials and resources with the help of the Department of Science and Technology Regional Office 1. This initiative, being implemented through the Provincial Science and Technology Center Ilocos Sur, is referred to as the Bee Industry Science and Technology Support (BISTS) project.

The project also aims to provide capacity building activity to wild honey hunters and award bee colonies and materials towards sustainable honey production suitable to the highland forested areas in these communities.

The DOST partnered with the Don Mariano Marcos Memorial State University - National Apiculture Research Training and Development Institute (DMMMSU-NARTDI) and trained 33 honey hunters, 22 in barangay Cosocos, Nagbukel and 11 in the municipality of Quirino.

The participants were trained in beekeeping technologies that included the following: proper wild honey collection, native hives beekeeping, bee pest and diseases management, and introduction to honey-bee products and by-products.

Practical lessons also conducted such as supplemental food preparation and feeding management, assembly of the beehive

"Nagasaat tayo ta ada kanayon ti DOST nga mangisabet ti tulong ken mangigited ti alternative nga pagsapulan tapno manayonan ti income tayo," said Aciong. The interventions are part of the livelihood component of the Community Empowerment through Science and Technology (CEST) Program implemented in the province catering to insurgency-affected municipalities. Incidentally, the CEST program was just one of the many S&T initiatives showcased by DOST-I during the recently concluded Regional Science and Technology Week. On the other hand, this coming 22-28 November 2021, the DOST, with its agencies and regionals, will banner more innovative technologies, knowledge products and services, development projects through forums, webinars and demonstrations as the Department celebrates the 2021 National Science and Technology Week with the theme, "Agham at Teknolohiya: Tugon sa Hamon ng Panahon" that will, once again, happen virtually due to the restrictions brought by

(From page 1) shall be valid for one year. Each Issuing Authority has a different set of establishments for which they can grant the certification. For example, LGUs can issue Safety Seals to malls, wet markets, and other retail stores, while the DILG may grant Safety Seals to city halls, municipal halls, and provincial capitols. The DILG is also asking help from the public to report violations of MPHS to the concerned Issuing Authority, the date of issuance, and the Safety Seal number. The DILG, DOLE, DOT, DTI, and all LGUs, city or municipality, serve as Issuing Authorities of the Safety Seal.

It may be revoked by the Issuing Authority if establishments are found to be non-compliant with any of the MPHS during the six-months validity of the seal. The Safety Seal features a green check at the center and is outlined by the statement: "This establishment follows safety & health protocols against COVID-19". It also indicates the Issuing Authority, the date of issuance, and the Safety Seal number. The DILG, DOLE, DOT, DTI, and all LGUs, city or municipality, serve as Issuing Authorities of the Safety Seal. Violations by business establishments issued by the DILG or LGUs may be reported to the DILG Public Assistance Hotline 892-50343; 892-51144; 09274226300; 09313849272. According to Malaya, the DILG has directed all LGUs to create Inspection and Certification Teams (ICT) to lead in the granting of the Safety Seal to establishments compliant with the MPHS. Uniformed personnel of the PNP and the Bureau of Fire Protection (BFP) may also be deputized by LGUs to conduct Safety Seal inspections if they lack the personnel to do so. Source: DILG only in indoor establishments allowed to operate like restaurants, amusement parks, recreational venues, fitness studios and gyms, etc.

"Many restaurants and indoor establishments are not checking the vaccination status of their customers and are violating the 50% operational capacity for indoor establishments and 70% operational capacity of outdoor establishments," he said.

He said that these establishments are strongly warned that government will revoke the Safety Seals issued to them which will deprive them of the additional 10% operational capacity as well as lose the badge of honor that they are compliant with all public health standards against COVID-19. He added that for repeat violators or those without Safety Seals, the DILG will recommend the revocation of their business permits issued by the Local Government Unit concerned. He asked all LGUs and the Philippine National Police (PNP) to conduct more inspections of establishments to ensure compliance with Covid-19 guidelines and for LGUs to issue Show Cause Orders against violators.

"We cannot be complacent at this time. Even if cases are going down and vaccination is going up, we cannot put our guard down. Look at Europe, their vaccination rate is high but they are now undergoing a new surge. Vigilance will prevent another surge," said Malaya.

The Safety Seal program is an inter-agency initiative by the DILG, the Department of Health (DOH), the Department of Trade and Industry (DTI), Department of Labor and Employment (DOLE), and Department of Tourism (DOT) which awards public and private establishments or buildings with a Safety Seal to be conspicuously displayed indicating that they are compliant with health protocols against COVID-19. Malaya said that the Safety Seal program addresses two issues: prevention, as it aims to prevent people from getting infected by requiring establishments to comply with MPHS requirements, and consumer confidence, (Turn to page 5)
